PETALING JAYA: A train carriage-like truck carrying information for the public on the country's MY Rapid Transit project has been launched.

The launching of the truck at the 1 Utama Shopping Centre, which was accompanied by fun-filled and interactive activities, attracted crowds who wanted to find out more about the first Mass Rapid Transit (MRT) Sungai Buloh-Kajang (SBK) line which will provide speedy train services to 1.2 million people upon completion in 2017.

Businessman Kama Johari Muhammad, 31, one of the first visitors at the launch, said the truck was an efficient way to disseminate information to a large group of people.

"As a Malaysian, I want to be involved with any government project that will affect my quality of life. It is nice to see the Government actively reaching out to engage the public instead of just shutting us out."

Businesswoman Serena Wong, 42, said she was impressed with the truck.

"I honestly did not expect much information to be held in the truck as it looked small and cramped but to my surprise, the interior holds clear and interesting information with up-to-date facilities."

MRT Corporation chief executive officer Datuk Azhar Abdul Hamid said the move was aimed at educating the public on the project.

The truck is equipped with a touch screen integrated TV and three laptops for visitors to access information and learn about the line.

The first of more to come, the truck will be travelling around popular venues in the Klang Valley to provide information to the public.
